Types of Business Loans at TD Bank

TD Bank provides a comprehensive range of business loan products designed to cater to various business needs. These options include term loans, lines of credit, and equipment financing, each tailored to support different aspects of business financing.

Term Loans

Term loans are traditional loans that provide a lump sum of money upfront, which is to be paid back over a specified period with interest. TD Bank offers competitive interest rates and flexible repayment terms to help businesses manage their cash flow effectively. These loans can be used for a variety of purposes, including purchasing real estate, funding renovations, or making significant investments in business growth.

Lines of Credit

A line of credit is a flexible financing option that allows businesses to borrow money up to a predetermined limit. With a TD Bank line of credit, businesses can draw funds as needed and only pay interest on the amount borrowed. This type of financing is ideal for managing working capital, covering unexpected expenses, or seizing immediate opportunities without the need to apply for a new loan each time.

Equipment Financing

TD Bank also specializes in equipment financing, providing businesses with the funds needed to purchase or lease essential equipment. This type of loan is particularly beneficial for businesses in industries such as manufacturing, construction, and healthcare, where specialized equipment is crucial for operations. The equipment itself often serves as collateral, making it easier for businesses to secure financing.
