History of Cebu Business Park

The Cebu Business Park was developed in the early 1990s and has since become one of the most significant business hubs in the Visayas region. Initially envisioned to accommodate the growing economic landscape of Cebu City, the park was designed to attract both local and foreign investments. It occupies a prime area of approximately 50 hectares, strategically located near the city's commercial and residential districts.

The development of Cebu Business Park was spearheaded by Ayala Land, a leading property developer in the Philippines. The park has undergone several phases of development which included not only commercial spaces but also residential and recreational facilities. Over the years, it has evolved into a bustling district that hosts multinational corporations, BPOs (business process outsourcing), and local businesses, contributing significantly to the economic growth of Cebu City.
