What Are Starseeds?

The concept of starseeds suggests that certain individuals are souls who have had past lives or origins in other star systems, galaxies, or dimensions, and have chosen to incarnate on Earth. These souls often carry with them unique energies, knowledge, and missions intended to assist humanity and the planet in its evolutionary journey. Unlike native Earth souls, starseeds may experience a profound sense of disconnect from mainstream society, a deep longing for their home star system, and an inherent desire to serve a higher purpose. They are often described as old souls, carrying wisdom and experiences from countless lifetimes across the cosmos. Their presence on Earth is believed to be part of a larger cosmic plan, aimed at raising consciousness and facilitating spiritual awakening.
